

REV. BEAUDETTE IS WITH BRITISH

Former Pastor Of St. Mary's Church Writes Of Service In France

On Active Service with the British Expeditionary Force.
December 8, 1917.

Dear Harry:—

You may print this letter as that will give me the opportunity of communicating to Rhinelander friends. My regiment, the 14th Engineers Railway of the regular army, are presently attached to the British forces. Eventually, we may go to our own troops. We operate miles of light railway and haul ammunition to the batteries. Naturally those who go up on the trains to the lines are in danger, but we have been very fortunate so far. It is surprising the amount of shells the guns consume each day, particularly, when there is a "show" on.

Our boys are volunteers from Boston and Maine; many are married. We are far from any booze or vice areas and have a wonderfully fine set of men. I hold Roman Catholic services each Sunday morning and an English Chaplain holds Protestant service evenings. Most of my regiment belong to my denomination. I reciprocate the courtesy of the British clergymen by helping out in the British hospitals. Since the big show of recent date the hospitals naturally are busy. The slaughter at Cambria is equalling Verdun. The manner in which the German commanders ordered their troops in massed formations to attack was cruel; they were literally mowed down by the thousands. An estimate places the Germans killed or wounded at 100,000. A few more battles like this one would open the way to Berlin.

I might mention that we are behind the British lines and we live in huts made of scrap iron, wood, tin, any old thing that was salvaged from the battlefield. We depend on the British for food, fuel and lodgings, and they naturally take care of themselves first, and what tin or boards they don't want they hand over to Sammy. We are well fed—not sumptuously fed—We get war bread and "bully beef" thrice daily. Being a railway regiment we manage to get fuel for our huts. But the quarters are not superlative. None of your grand camps with canteens, shower baths, etc., such as are established in "Blighty." If a Sammy wants a bath he takes a pail of water and sponge and goes out on the 40 acre lot. He will shock no one there.

We don't fly the Stars and Stripes at the camp nor do I hoist my chaplain's flag. Fritz in his plane above would photograph our outfit and probably do us mischief. The water is good here but the air has too much iron in it to be wholesome. When Fritz is above us at noon and the anti-aircraft guns bang away at him on our tin-hats, for what goes up must come down. Tin hats are not proof against shell-noses, but there is quite a hail storm ensuing after a shelling of a plane, and a helmet helps against the smaller pieces of shell.

The treachery of Russia has pained the allies but the determination to fight on prevails. Judging from the prisoners taken Germany is in a weakened condition, and weary of war. In less than two years the job of crushing militarism should be accomplished. To quit now means another world war in less than ten years.

I wonder if the Rhinelander boys have come over yet. As soon as I hear that they are over and near the front, I'll run over to see them. Uncle Sam has furnished me a Harley-Davidson with side car for the exclusive use of myself. An orderly is detailed to look after it and drive it. A hundred mile run over the excellent roads here is no more fatiguing than an auto run to Lake George.

The Sammys and Tommys get mixed up in their English at times. When Sammy talks about a "Wye" in railroad parlance, Tommy cannot make it out—he says "triangle." In-

SOO TRAIN HITS CAR; 2 KILLED

When Soo line passenger train No. 7 crashed into an automobile near Gladstone Saturday night two people lost their lives and three were injured. John Sagalow and his son, Joseph, both Indians, are the dead and the injured are Fred Louis, chauffeur; E. A. Segerstrom, Mrs. D. B. McDonald and Murdock McDonald, aged 10 years.

The Gladstone Reporter tells of the accident: Louis saw the train approaching and tried to stop the car, but the brakes failed to hold and the car passed onto the track directly in front of the onrushing train. He had not enough time to put on more speed and make a safe crossing. The train was late and was running at a high rate of speed and even though Engineer Davis applied the emergency brakes, he was unable to stop his heavy train in time to prevent an accident. He was unable to tell that everything was not right with the car and doubtless supposed that the car would either stop or make a safe crossing.

The car, a seven passenger Hudson, was hit just in front of the rear seats and was hurled through the air. The man who was killed instantly was hurled for several feet and was lodged beneath a guy wire on a telephone pole. It required the efforts of two men to dislodge the body, so tightly was it wedged. It is reported that the McDonald boy was hurled fifty feet. The other occupants were thrown into the air and buried in the wreckage of the car.

NEXT DRAFT MAY BE FEBRUARY 1

Talk at Washington is that the call for the next draft for men for the army will be issued February 15. It has been confirmed from official sources. It is expected to take at least 60 days after the questionnaires are all in before the registered men will be properly classified and it has been supposed that the next draft would wait on that.

It will also be necessary for the war department to make arrangements in the army cantonments for the 35 per cent of men in the first draft not yet called out.

The large numbers of men who are enlisting to avoid the draft is also having the effect of keeping the ranks of the army and navy commands well filled. Thousands of men anticipating the draft, have joined the colors at a time when they have some choice as to their assignments, and more are still joining.

BRUCE MEEN DEAD

Fred Meen of the Rhinelander Creamery and Produce company, departed Friday morning for Santa Ana, California, in response to a telegram announcing the critical condition of his youngest brother, Bruce Meen. The young man passed away before Mr. Meen could reach his bed side.

Bruce Meen had a number of friends in Rhinelander, having at one time made an extended stay with his brother here. Several years ago failing health caused him to go to California. The last few months his decline was rapid. Those here who knew him are very sorry to learn of his death.

BECOMES LOST; FREEZES FEET

Joe Milan, son of Mr. and Patrick Milan, froze his feet badly on one of the cold nights of last week while searching for a horse in the woods near Boulder Junction. He lost his way and roamed about nearly all night before he found shelter. He was brought to this city for medical attention. It was at first thought that amputation of his feet would be necessary but it is now believed they can be saved.

THIS IS THE YEAR

Raise your hat to the Glad New Year!
Raise your voice with a hopeful cheer!
Make a vow that while it stays
You'll make the most of its glorious days,
And—
What! That sort of resolve is old!
Sounds like a tale too often told!
You've made it every New Year's day,
Then frittered the live-long year away!
Well, s'posing you have! What's that to do With this particular year! It's new!
New, you grouch, not the same old kind
Of muddled up year you've left behind!
New each day and each minute too!
New; each second is fresh-laid new!
New for the things you've left undone!
New for the races you haven't run!
New for ambitions unachieved!
New for mistakes unretrieved!
New for unfinished efforts too!
New for the things you mean to do!

Never one day in its bill of fare
Is like another day anywhere.
And if a year can be fresh and new Why in the dickens can't you be too!

You can! So wash from your care-stained face
Of memory's dirt the last small trace.
Put on Ambition's garments bright,
Light your cigar with the Future's light
And say to yourself: "The old year's dead.
Bury it deep! Look right ahead!
Here's a New Year laid out for me,
As full of chances as it can be,
So out of my way let me go!
It's up to me, and by jings! I'll show!"

Then start! And keep at it! Hang on! Stick!
You'll notice the difference mighty quick,
And you'll find, before it's half-way through,
It's the Happiest kind of a year for you!

—Paul West.

EXPECT TO SHIFT OFFICERS AT WACO

Transfer of Wisconsin Officers To Michigan Thought To Be Beneficial

Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, Dec. 31—There seems to be a general impression here that there is to be a sweeping shakeup and change in the war department's policy involving the assignment of officers in this and all other National guard organizations in the country.

Several Wisconsin artillery officers were transferred on Monday to Michigan batteries within the Thirty-second division, and the shifting of Polish officers to Michigan organizations would not be surprising in view of the fact that hundreds of Polish soldiers are identified with Michigan companies.

Opinion prevails among regular army chieftains here that transfer of officers will make for efficiency and better cooperation between officers and men, and they appear to be ready to try the plan out and on a wide scale.

These changes and others that are likely to follow are based entirely upon the old proverb that "no man is a prophet in his own country." There is no intention to cast reflection upon the efficiency of the men involved, but Brig. Gen. McGlachlin, commanding the Fifty-seventh Artillery brigade, believes that many good men are being held down because they know too intimately the men under them.

It is believed that if the plan is extended throughout the divisions it will tend to eliminate completely any traces of local politics.

One benefit pointed out by a Spanish war veteran is that when officers return to their home towns after the war, they will not be subjected to the criticisms of the men that served under them and may have harbored a grudge. Many company commanders of '98 and later campaigns, were forced to leave their communities because of the bad feeling that developed among the soldiers.

MANY AT CO. L DANCE

The annual New Year's ball for the benefit of Company L at the Armory Tuesday night was largely attended. The Hazel M. Crawford orchestra furnished the music.

REX SANNS WEDS BARRON GIRL HERE

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanns on West Davenport street, was the scene of a quiet wedding Saturday morning when their son, Ray, took for his bride, Miss Laura Kellicup of Barron. Rev. C. A. Wicks, pastor of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Tessie Sanns, and the groom's man was Ray Nettling. Only relatives were present.

The newly weds departed on Soo line train that morning for Barron where they will make their home on the groom's farm.

Mr. Sanns is a graduate of the Rhinelander high school and is held in high regard by a large number of friends here. Several years ago he engaged in farming near Barron and has been very successful. His bride is one of the popular and accomplished young ladies of Barron. Although a stranger to Rhinelander people she has made a favorable impression among those who have met her here.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Sanns. May happiness and prosperity be always with them.

MEET IN WAUSAU

The annual convention of county superintendents of schools in Wisconsin has been called for Feb. 5, 6 and 7 at Wausau by Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary. Two sessions of the convention are to be given over to the association of superintendents for its business meeting and election of officers for 1918. The educational exhibits shown at the state fair and at the recent convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' association will be displayed.

TO BEGIN MILK DELIVERY JAN. 7

Next Monday, January 7, Vern McLaughlin will begin the delivery of milk and cream in this city. His route will comprise every section of the city. Prompt and efficient service and courteous treatment to all will be Mr. McLaughlin's policy. His milk and cream will be secured in Oneida county and all barns and cows will be under rigid state inspection.

WILL PLAY BALL FOR RED CROSS

At the high school gym Friday night basket ball fans will have the opportunity to witness a clash between the Antigo team and a team composed of former Rhinelander high school players. The gate receipts will be turned over to the Red Cross.

Several men famous in local basketball circles a few years ago will be seen on the floor with all their old time vim and skill. It will be a game well worth attending.

MINOCQUA STRONG FOR RED CROSS

A local drive for funds for the Red Cross Society is meeting with the same success that all patriotic movements in Minocqua have met. Already the fund is crowding the three hundred mark and indications are that, with the extension of the campaign to January 1, 1918, the three hundred mark will not only be reached but passed. It is not uncommon to see a one hundred per cent Red Cross Banner shining from a home or a place of business.—Minocqua Times.

SUGAR SUPPLY NORMAL SOON

A Washington Dispatch states that a return to a normal sugar supply for the nation is not likely to be long deferred, the food administration announced on Tuesday night in outlining plans under which an increased allotment of sugar will be made to confectioners and manufacturers of non-essential food products containing sugar. The 50 per cent allotment to which confectioners were limited when the sugar shortage became acute in October, will be increased to 80 per cent when the supply again becomes normal, it was announced, but continuance of this ratio will depend upon the efforts of manufacturers to reduce the sugar content of confectionery and soft drinks by substituting other sweetening materials.

ROAD PATROL PLAN

State Highway Engineer A. R. Hirst has finally worked out a thoroughly centralized supervision of the maintenance of roads under the systematized and co-ordinated plan of state federal system.

Patrolmen working under state supervision and rigid state inspection will be placed in charge of sections of the road, just as railroad section men take charge of sections of right of way—they will devote their whole time to the maintenance of these sections. They will be provided with teams or motor trucks, light road graders, road plane and full equipment. Their duties will be to drag the road and keep the surface smooth and well crowned, to fill holes, to keep the drainage open, remove obstructions and not only repair spots where the road has deteriorated, but to anticipate the deterioration of the weak spots. This work will begin next May, and will be a revolution in Wisconsin highway methods.

ADOLF MODE WEDS MISS HAZELQUIST

On Thursday, December 20, the wedding of Miss Mary Hazelquist and Mr. Adolf Mode both of this city was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hazelquist, on the north side. Rev. L. D. Dokken of Carter, Wis., performed the ceremony. The marriage was a quiet one, only relatives being in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Mode will continue to make Rhinelander their home. They have a large number of friends here who wish them a long and happy wedded life.

FALL IS FATAL TO FRED NEDEAU

Popular Paper Company Employee Is Victim Of Sad Accident

Saturday morning there occurred at the plant of the Rhinelander Paper company a shocking accident, which resulted in the death of Fred Nedean, a machinist and one of the company's most popular employees, at St. Mary's hospital late Monday night.

Mr. Nedean, according to what is regarded as the most authentic report of the accident, was working on a scaffold when he missed his footing and fell about fifteen feet into a bin of coal. He struck on his head and soon became unconscious. He was moved at once to the office of Dr. H. J. Westgate where after a hasty examination by that physician he was conveyed to St. Mary's hospital. There it was discovered that he was more seriously injured than at first supposed, and with the expectation of saving his life it was deemed advisable to operate. The injured man never regained consciousness and although the physicians held a slight hope for him he passed away between ten and eleven o'clock Monday night.

Mr. Nedean had been a resident of Rhinelander for the last four years during which time he was in the employ of the Rhinelander Paper company. His sterling qualities of manhood combined with his cheerful disposition made him well liked by his fellow employees, who feel their loss with profound sorrow.

To the bereaved wife who is left to bear the grief of this sad tragedy the entire city unites in proffering sympathy. Two brothers of Mr. Nedean, who were called here by his death, will, with Mrs. Nedean, accompany the remains to Ticonderoga, N. Y., the deceased's former home, where interment will take place.

Wednesday evening at the Hildebrand undertaking rooms, a large number of employees of the Rhinelander Paper company, gathered to pay their final respects to their departed friend, Rev. W. Wilson of the M. E. church conducted the services, which were brief but impressive.

This afternoon at the residence on S. Oneida avenue funeral services were held, Rev. Wilson officiating. Mr. A. J. Kimber sang. Many friends of deceased were in attendance.

UNCLE SAM AFTER AUTO-REPAIR MEN

If your garage can not make immediate repairs on your car these days, blame the war, for Uncle Sam is taking the best automobile mechanics of the middle west to fill the world's largest ground aviation school which is being established at Great Lakes naval training station. Recently the first week of recruiting for machinists, woodworkers, coopermasters, blacksmiths and quartermasters ended with the goal of 2,000 almost reached. Rhinelander men are sought.

Lieut. DeWitt C. Ramsey, U. S. navy, is in charge of the organization of the school, cooperating with Lee Hammond, lieutenant, junior grade, of the reserve force who has been at the head of the Great Lakes flying corps since last spring. Recruiting is being handled by Boat-Swain (Aviation) L. C. Fisher, Chief Machinist's Mate (Aviation) L. C. Pitzer, Machinist's Mate (Aviation) B. H. Heim, Quartermaster (Aviation) Chester Foust and Yeoman Morrow. Headquarters for this work have been established at room 41, administration building, Great Lakes, where applicants should appear for enlistment.

Wm. Vlahakis, of the Rhinelander Cafe, is in Ironwood.

Catarrh of Throat

Miss Annelle Radick, 1449 South 16th St., Omaha, Nebraska, writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the throat. I caught cold and it settled in my throat, and I coughed badly and was very weak. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I had two doctors, and had taken so many different medicines and found no help. I thought I will have to give up, but at last my mother read about Peruna, so I thought of trying that great medicine Peruna. I got a bottle of it and in about four days I almost stopped coughing, and after a while I surely found relief, and from that time we are not without Peruna in our home."

The Postoffice Department is telling a man at a cantonment regarding whom the story was circulated that he was lonesome and had never received a letter since arrival in camp. Then came the deluge. In one mail he received 1200 letters, 19 special delivery letters and parcels, and 54 ordinary parcels. Investigation showed he could neither read nor write. He was found surrounded by several other soldiers who were helping him with his mail.

COAL BUYERS TO FILE BLANKS

People of Oneida county who purchase coal hereafter must first fill out a blank issued by the federal government and file it with their coal dealer. The action is aimed to prevent duplication of purchases from several dealers and the hoarding up of coal during the period of the extreme scarcity of that article. The official form to be filled out is issued in compliance with the order of the federal fuel administrator for Wisconsin, whereby purchasers are required to make true declarations of the following questions:

- 1—Quantity and size of coal desired.
- 2—Grade and size of coal used last year.
- 3—Approximate quantity used last year.
- 4—Quantity on hand at present.
- 5—Will last approximately days.
- 6—Have you any unfilled orders with other dealers?

At the bottom of the blank the purchaser must sign his name and address to the following declaration: "I hereby certify that the above is true to the best of my knowledge and belief."

THE YEAR 1918

The year 1918 will mark the 160th anniversary of:

- The introduction of shoe pegs.
- The invention of the velocipede.
- The invention of "patent" leather.
- The introduction of macadamized roads.
- The admission of Illinois into the Union.
- The first use of steam for warming houses.
- The first dramatic performance in St. Louis.
- The publication of "Endymion," by John Keats.
- The adoption of the present United States flag.
- The launching of the first steamboat on Lake Erie.
- The founding of the New York State Library at Albany.
- The establishment of the first infant schools in London.
- The founding of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

- The re-establishment of peace in India, following the Mahatma war.
- The Florida Indian war and the capture of Pensacola by General Jackson.
- The appearance of the curious novel "Frankenstein," by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley.
- The inauguration of the system of American pension legislation by an act of Congress granting pensions to needy veterans of the revolutionary war.
- The Congress of Aix-la-Chapelle, consisting of the sovereigns of Austria, Prussia and Russia, aided by ministers of Great Britain and France, which provides for the withdrawal of the army of occupation from France, and the reception of France into the European concert.

TEST HIGHER OFFICERS

New tests for the higher officers of the United States army and the national guard have been ordered by the war department. It will not affect anyone from Rhinelander, but may exclude some well known national guard officers from Wisconsin. The purpose is to determine what generals are in condition to stand the work over seas.

The conditions of foreign service in this war are unusually severe, requiring that general officers shall be not only adequately grounded in military science and adequately alert physically to acquire rapidly the lessons which the new form of warfare requires, but able to endure prolonged hardship.

Boards of this kind have already found some general officers of both regular army and the national guard physically disqualified. Such finding does not in any way reflect upon the past service of the officer or upon his present zeal and willingness to make personal sacrifice in the further service of his country, but the question to be determined is one of capacity to perform a highly specialized and arduous type of service.

JANUARY 3, 1918

"For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

What are you doing to help win the war?

Shut out any of these New Year's resolutions yet?

How many times have you written it 1917 this week?

Now then, let everybody least for the War Savings Stamps.

Indications are that the coming year will be a very prosperous one for Rhineland.

Taking inventory is the popular pastime in most of the Rhineland stores just now.

January first, the Rhineland Creamery raised the price of cream in half pint lots 20 per cent, from ten to fifteen cents; in pint lots the price was increased 25 percent; from twenty to twenty-five cents a pint; in quart lots 25 per cent, from forty to fifty cents.

ONLY A BRAKEMAN

Following a railway accident recently, there was great relief in official circles that the report was made that only a brakeman had been killed. Only a brakeman! And there were hundreds of others waiting to fill his shoes.

Only a brakeman! His name was not given in the telegraphic report of the accident. He had not made a name to which the world would pay tribute. There were only a few friends who knew him in the railway Y. M. C. A. and a brother and sister in Russia. Home, family, friends he had left in the land of oppression to come to America, the country of opportunity. Alone, ignorant, untrained in American ways, he was only a brakeman in the official report telling of his death.

Only a brakeman! Yet it is such as he who are moving our freight, trucking the meat that supplies our tables, hauling the coal that heats our homes, bringing the milk with which we feed our babies. Standing on the top of their freight cars, leaning against the wind, with the dust of the deserts in their faces, the roar of the engines in their ears, and the grime of the nations on their hands, wherever you find cars, engines, freight, soot, danger, there you will find the brakeman, toiling sleeplessly, hopefully, uncomplainingly, with death stalking ever at his side, to give us comforts and make our homes happy. Yet when the car couplers pinch him within their giant jaws or the wrecked train crashes out his life beside the railway track, the reports that the public reads record the death of only a brakeman.—Milwaukee Journal.

BOTTLERS MEET

Of the two hundred and sixty bottlers in Wisconsin only twenty-two attended the meeting called by Dairy and Food Commissioner Weigle in Madison, last week, to go over new laws governing the soft drink business in this state. Arthur Taylor, of the Rhineland Bottling Works, was among those present. The new laws are strict regarding sanitary matters and demand that bottlers have a license. Mr. Taylor needed no instructions regarding the sanitary requirements as he has long exercised every precaution in this respect in the manufacture of his beverages. His plant here is one of the best equipped and cleanest in Wisconsin.

George Niles of Winchester was in the city Wednesday and purchased a Pathophone from the local agent, M. W. Sorenson. (The machine will be shipped to Winchester Friday.)

August Lehman of Montague, Mich., was recently the guest of his father, Emil Lehman, of the Rhineland Novelty Works. He is engaged in farming near Montague.

Mrs. Henry Holzhuh is numbered among the sick and her condition is said to be serious.

ROB SALOON SECOND TIME

James Murphy's saloon in Monico was entered Tuesday night and a considerable sum of money and some liquor taken. Emil Stein, Leo Conklin and Joe Cavanaugh are under arrest charged with the crime. The men were arrested in Monico and Woodruff by Sheriff Hans Rold.

This is the second time the Murphy saloon has been robbed within a few months. One of Jimmy's friends waggishly remarked that the first raiders must have chalk marked the place as easy.

Strength of Spanish Fly.

Spanish fly is an insect much used in medicine as an irritant. It is gathered from the lilac bushes of southern Europe at night by shaking the branches, the collector's hands and face being protected by veils and gloves against the volatile acid discharge of the beetles. Then the insects are killed by immersion in hot vinegar. One one-hundredth (1-100) of a grain of Spanish fly placed on the lip rapidly causes a blister.—W. E. Aughtinbaugh in Leslie's.

Use of Word Filibuster.

The word filibuster goes back to the days of William Walker's fantastic enterprise against Mexico, Costa Rica and Nicaragua—that is to the early fifties. It was adopted into political slang at once, and got into the debates of congress on January 3, 1853, as the learned know who have studied Thoreau. The Cuban revolution gave it a new and vigorous lease of life.

Progress or Retrogress.

It is often said that "What is good enough for the father is good enough for the son." This statement is incorrect, proclaims a writer. It leaves the wheel on a slope where it cannot stand. The instant it ceases to ascend it begins to slide down. As with the individual, so with communities and nations—where progression pauses, retrogression begins.

Cannot Be Pioneers.

The world is explored. There is no more "West" in the old sense of the term; no empty, unknown land, dowered by imagination with all the riches of the rainbow's foot, for the migratory adventurer to take and hold. Our sons may become heroes, poets, captains of industry, scientists, artists or inventors; but they cannot be pioneers. There isn't room.—Exchange.

Must Be Relatives.

Phyllis had seen her grandma's white spitz dog, but had not seen the white angora cat until her last visit. After eyeing them carefully for a while she turned to the dog and asked him: "Is that your cousin?"

Using American Methods.

Americans are introducing American business methods into the jungles, writes a correspondent. They find out what the Germans paid for certain animals and then give the natives the same amount. They justify this method on the strength of the fact that the natives get as much for the animals as if they were sold to Germans, although the Americans declare that the Germans have been making huge profits.

Little Difference.

Mildred, a bright three-year-old, and the only child in the home, was becoming selfish and at times quite naughty. Her father, hoping to improve her, said to her one day, "I think I shall have to bring home a little brother." With a toss of the head and a defiant air she quickly replied, "Well, you'll find boys is just as worse as girls."

Removes Paint Odor.

To remove paint odor from a refrigerator turn a pan of charcoal for all of one day. Swish ice cold water freshly through it that evening, and at night set four or five pans of lead water upon the shelves and shut the doors. The volatile particles arising from the paint cause the odor. When precipitated into the water they cannot rise again.

A Dog's Advantage.

Scientists say that a dog's possession of a sixth sense is proved by the fact that a dog carried far from home will return directly when it escapes. Well, for one thing, comments the Louisville Courier-Journal, the dog is not confused by rural directions for taking the right road.

Diplomatic.

Bobby (entertaining sister's beau)—"Effie told me yesterday you was born to be a politician." Mr. Stimpson—"A politician? Why does she think that?" Bobby—"That's what ma asked her, and she said because you can do so much talkin' without committing yourself."

KRUEGER-EGAN NUPTIALS HERE

Miss Marjorie Krueger, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krueger, was quietly married at nine o'clock this morning to Mr. Kenneth Egan of Manitowoc. The ceremony took place in St. Mary's parsonage and was performed by Rev. Fr. Didier. Miss Mabel Krueger, the bride's sister, and Mr. Aubrey Egan, brother of the groom, were the attendants. Other members of the party were Miss Helen Krueger and Mr. K. B. Maxwell.

After the wedding the bridal party partook of breakfast at the Krueger residence at 33 E. Anderson street. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with roses and smilax. Mr. and Mrs. Egan departed on the 10:26 Northwestern train this morning on a wedding trip to Milwaukee, Chicago and other cities and after February 1 they will be at home in Manitowoc.

The bride is one of Rhineland's pleasing young ladies and is a favorite among her large circle of friends. She was born and raised in this city and after completing her high school course here attended Oshkosh normal. After graduating from the normal she taught in the schools of Appleton and this city and was a very capable teacher.

Mr. Egan is one of Manitowoc's young business men and is associated with the Merchants and Manufacturers' Printing company of that city. He has frequently visited in this city and has a number of friends here. He is highly spoken of by everyone.

Best wishes for a happy wedded life go out to Mr. and Mrs. Egan.

More Wasted Food.

"Chew your food well," says Good Health. "The biggest waste of food in this country grows out of hasty eating. Half-chewed food is half digested. The other half is wasted. The people of the United States waste enough food, by neglecting to chew, to feed France and Belgium."

Los Angeles Broadens Out.

Recent additions to the city of Los Angeles, Cal., make it the largest city in the United States in point of area. It now has an area of 337 square miles as against New York city's 314, Chicago's 193, and Philadelphia's 129, all greatly exceeding it in population.

Good Forage Ground.

In the antipodes stock ranchers find that territory covered with some dwarf species of acacia makes splendid forage ground. One of the best species is A. aneura, a shrub sparingly grown in California as an ornamental.

CO-ED COURTSHIP.

By SYLVIA TURNER.

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The principal reason why the family decided that Hilda should go to Sagamore college was because it was co-ed. Aunt Jane held that in a strictly female seminary a girl's mind was apt to be so filled with her studies and feminine pursuits that she was unfitted for her life role of wifehood. The doctor took an entirely different view of the situation, as he told Hilda the night before she left.

"Dear girl, you've lead a lonely, monotonous sort of life at this old place, with just Joan and myself. You need companionship of boys and girls your own age. Long ago your mother, Miss Lee, was a student at Sagamore. You are to have the same room she had, and her seat in the dining hall. Have a good time and don't have too many love affairs. By the way, you may find a stepmother here when you come back, one whom I know you will love."

"You mean Mrs. Everdon, dad?" she asked, a little break in her tone. "I mean Paula Everdon," he responded, quietly.

When she had been at Sagamore just two weeks, far too busy to dwell upon her own personal troubles, she was one day on a tall mountain spur overlooking the Hudson for miles. A storm had been brewing and she had been trying to make the college grounds before it broke. But in her hurry, she stumbled on the rocks, lost her footing and fell. She tried to rise, but could not, and suddenly there came a drenching downpour of rain, with a crash of thunder.

She wore a short military cape, and threw this around her like a poncho, trying to shelter herself from the downpour. All at once she felt herself lifted bodily in strong arms and carried on a run to the shelter of an old, deserted shack used by workmen who had been blasting.

It was dark inside the hut, so dark that she could hardly discern the face of her rescuer. The terrific noise outside barred any attempt at conversation, but he had removed her cape and was busy trying to light a fire on the old stone hearth. When the blaze flared up she caught a glimpse of his face. It was a strong young one. He turned and smiled at her, feeling her scrutiny.

"We're apt to be here for some time. You'd better make yourself comfortable. I hope you're not far from your home?"

"Just Sagamore," replied Hilda, holding out her hands to the fire. "I'm afraid I can't help myself very much. My shoulder and ankle both seemed to catch it when I fell. Perhaps when you go, you might leave word at the college, so they'd send for me. I'd be awfully obliged."

"I think I can manage to get you over, myself," he said; "at least as far as the gates; then I can run down after you in the dean's car."

It did not seem that they were together long before the storm cleared, yet three hours had passed when Hilda finally reached her own room.

"Isn't he a perfect darling," said Anne Rathburn, her roommate, when Hilda was snug on the big couch, drinking tea. "I haven't seen him at any of the classes. He must be a senior."

It surely gave her prestige among the other freshmen, this being cared for in cavalier fashion by a senior.

His name was Ralph, she found out from some of the other boys, Ralph Kingslake. After she grew to know him better, he told her something of his own life. Hilda had been fearfully curious over the visits of a very handsome woman in black who came and left the college grounds in a large touring car every Sunday.

"Oh, that's the mater," Ralph told her. "She's fearfully good to me. She's just my stepmother, but we've been regular pals ever since my father died. She put me through college, and we rather keep an eye on each other. You see, by the terms of my father's will, if she marries before I'm twenty-five, she loses all but her dower right in the estate. But then again, if I marry before I've established myself under twenty-five, I'll lose a whole lot and she wins."

Hilda looked at him appreciatively. "I should think it would be splendid to go deliberately against such a will," she said.

The months passed, and June loomed ahead. Hilda viewed its coming anxiously. Her father's wedding was set for the latter part of June.

Somewhat she felt that she could not go home and find a stranger in her mother's place. Ralph told her his plans one night when they were walking up the elm-bordered campus.

From habit they went into the little room used as college post office. There was a letter in each of their boxes. Hilda finished her's first.

"Oh, Ralph, dad's married Mrs. Everdon!" she cried. "I'm so glad we decided that we had a right to our own happiness."

Ralph's brown eyes twinkled. "The mater's name is Mrs. Everdon. She dropped the Kingslake when she went into business for herself and took her maiden name. By jove, isn't it funny?"

Hilda bit her lips to hide a smile. "I think," she said, "we'd better telegraph them our blessings."

O'MELIA TO HEAD WAR STAMP SALE

Is Now Organizing Forces For Big Campaign in City and County

District Attorney A. J. O'Melia has been appointed chairman of the organization to conduct the War Savings Stamps campaign in Rhinelander and Oneida county. Mr. O'Melia is at present busy assembling his forces. War Savings Stamps can be purchased at the postoffice, First National Bank and Merchants State Bank.

In offering War-Saving Stamps to the public the United States Government has made immediately available for every man, woman, and child in the country a profitable, simple, and secure investment.

War-Savings Stamps are the answer of a great democracy to the demand for a democratic form of government security. They are "little baby bonds." Like Liberty Bonds, they have behind them the entire resources of the government and people of the United States. They have the additional advantage that they steadily increase in value from the date of purchase until the date of maturity, and this increase is guaranteed by the government. These stamps are issued in two denominations, the 25-cent stamp and the $5 stamp.

For the convenience of investors a "Thrifty Card" is furnished to all purchasers of 25-cent stamps. This card has spaces for 16 stamps. When all the spaces have been filled the Thrifty Card may be exchanged for a $5 stamp at post offices, banks, or other authorized agencies by adding 12 cents in cash prior to February 1, 1918, and 1 cent additional each month thereafter.

The main reason for the purchase of War-Savings Stamps is because your country is at War. Your country needs every penny which every man, woman, and child can save and lend in order to feed, clothe, arm, and equip the soldiers and sailors of America and to win this righteous war in defense of American honor and the cause of democracy throughout the world.

If we are to win the war, we must win it as a united people. The savings of every man, woman, and child are necessary if we are to hasten the victorious ending of the war. War Savers are Life Savers.

The Parly family of Gagen spent Christmas with Three Lakes relatives.

Miss Sophia Zawacki is here from Iron River, Mich., to spend the holidays at her home.

John Okowski, son Alex and daughter Anita spent several days with John Okowski, the station agent at Summit Lake.

Dr. Meyer of Eagle River was in town on professional business on Saturday.

Mrs. Chas. Javenkowski spent a few days at her son's logging camp at Athens on the Soo.

Harry Okowski who saw the bright lights on Grandview, Milwaukee, for a week, is returned to his part of our local depot.

Wm. Anderson has been called to Viroqua where his mother lies seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Thompson of Plover, Wis., who spent Christmas day with their children here returned home on Wednesday.

Hark! Watch! Listen! The time is short to perfect your New Year's resolution. Possibly you may be able to renew your last year's resolution.

Some of our ice men are busy already. They report the ice is now 16 inches thick.

Louis Frank, the government weather man, reports that the thermometer showed 37 below on Saturday.

Our Ford cars are still on the job, pretty good for northern Wisconsin, Jan. 1.

We wish all the readers—and their friends a Happy New Year.

The wood piles are beginning to show the effect of the cold wave. Better investigate—some more cold waves coming.

Boys beware of Maple Lake. Mike Beyer and Angus McDonald had narrow escapes. The ice is unsafe.

Josie Valentowicz is about to graduate from a Chicago business college. Good for you Josie.

Lon Mattoon, the old time guide is spending a week with his old pals in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sery are rejoicing over the arrival of a boy baby at their home.

Mrs. Onsgord, (Marie Lavery) is expected to arrive here in a few days accompanied by her old friend Miss Violet Jeffery.

The Christmas entertainment given at the M. E. church, under the auspices of the Sunday school was a grand success.

Rev. Davis and family of Eagle River, were down for the Christmas entertainment.

Chas. Hehn has charge of a logging camp for Joe Godlevski. The camp is located some point on the Soo line.

The Bonack family is entertaining a relative from Seymour.

Miss Helen Cegilski departed for Milwaukee on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nelson spent Christmas with Three Lakes relatives. They departed for their southern Wisconsin home on Thursday. Billy is now employed in an electrical establishment.

A. Billington transacted business at Rhinelander the first of the week. Have you noticed the days growing longer?

County Road Superintendent, F. E. Parker, was in Three Lakes the first of the week. He came via auto as usual.

Marchy Kozuta's time at the Waukesha Industrial school will expire on his 18th birthday anniversary, being January 6, 1918. However, he may not be released at that time, owing to the fact that the institution is at present under quarantine for scarlet fever.

Miss Florence Campbell was an Antigo visitor the first of the week. While there she had her eyes tested and fitted with glasses.

Vogel, the Delco wire man has returned from Antigo and is now working on Mr. Campbell's system. Billy Stamper is entertaining a younger brother at the Corning home on Stone Lake.

Mrs. Holowinsky accompanied by her son, came over from Sugar Camp on Wednesday. Her son belongs to the U. S. Navy and came home for a short visit.

Several of our business men have offered their services as telegraph operators to the U. S. government.

If you are not yet the owner of a Red Cross button, you had better get busy and sign up.

Mr. H. Puls and Mrs. A. Rotter returned from Chicago on Wednesday.

FIGHTING PARSON HEARD FROM AGAIN

Wedge, At Camp Grant, Tells How To Keep New Year
Resolutions

Buckford, Ill.—Can a New Year's resolution be kept? Don't

"Easy enough to keep a New Year's resolution if you really mean to keep it when you make it," replied the Rev. "Kid" Wedge, former prizefighter, former rowdy, former hard drinker, and who now is doing Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Grant here.

The Rev. F. B. Wedge points to himself as one who made a resolution to turn over a new leaf and who turned it over and kept it turned over.

"It was a long and hard fight to keep my resolution," said the preacher who once delighted in the roughest kind of fist battles. "But I won out. I made good, and I'll never get over being glad that I made the resolution and kept it."

"The trouble with most New Year resolutions are that they are made with 'figgers crossed,' and the maker doesn't really want to keep them. Consequently he doesn't back them up with all the grit and will power he has."

"He slides back into his old habits, drunk, vice, or whatever it was, because he didn't put his whole heart and soul into keeping his New Year resolution."

If anybody in the world knows what he's talking about when he speaks of making and keeping resolutions the Rev. "Kid" Wedge is the man.

He was born in the lumber camps of northern Wisconsin woods. His father was a lumberjack, and the "Kid" grew up among the rough, liquor-drinking, fighting men whose only "fun" was found in barroom brawls.

The lumber camp barroom was the school to which the "Kid" went.

While still in his teens he became the roughest fighter and worst tough in northern Wisconsin. He could drink more liquor than any other and he could get more vicious and dangerous when drunk than any other. His greatest ambition was to get everybody drunk, himself included, and start a free-for-all, rough and tumble scrap in which eye-gouging, strangling, headbusting tactics predominated.

From the barroom brawls he emerged a "roughneck" prizefighter, and fought many ring battles. He acquired a love for boxing which he still retains and has instilled in young men of his churches.

But it is clean, manly, scientific boxing he likes and teaches.

Then, one day, he asked himself: "What does this booze fighting and tough reputation get me?"

And he answered that question too:

"Nothing!"

So "Kid" Wedge made his famous resolution. That was something like fifteen years ago.

He quit drinking and started going to church and school. He spent more time at home and none in saloons. At first it was hard sledding. The good people didn't think him serious, and his former pals tried their best to pull him back to their low level.

But he kept on, making the keeping of that good resolution the biggest thing of his life. He studied, conducting a summer training camp for rich men's sons to defray his expenses. Four years he spent at the Omaha Theological seminary and was ordained a Presbyterian minister and given a church at Monroe, Neb.

Later he went back as pastor to Rhinelander, Wis., where once he had been the police's "toughest customer." Then he became an evangelist and preached the dual gospel of a clean, healthy body and a clean, Christian mind. For the former he prescribes athletics, outdoors and work; for the latter, church, school and home.

The fight the Rev. "Kid" Wedge is most proud of is the one he fought with the vice-stained Chinatown and the vicious Barbary coast of San Francisco, neither of which is a tenth as morally rotten as it was before he got into the fray.

And if he hadn't made and kept that resolution he wouldn't have done that. More than likely he now would be a human derelict in some big city's flop house.—E. C. Rodgers in Milwaukee Journal.

is the only concern ever organized in Rhinelander to build and sell houses to workingmen at a low price and on a low cash payment.

After the first payment they allow the buyer to pay about the same as his rent would be. They furnish modern cottages, bungalow style, with hardwood floors, water and sink, drain pipe, electric wired, cellar and stone foundation. These houses have four rooms below and two, and some of them three, upstairs.

They have built and sold five houses, and have two nearly completed that are for sale.

DAILY THE DAIRY

LOSS OF FAT IN SKIM MILK

Farmer Using Separator Should Pay Close Attention to Matter—Chief Cause Is Speed.

Every farmer who uses a separator to skim his milk should give close attention to see that he does not lose fat in the skim milk. A small percentage of fat going into the skim milk continuously means a great loss for the year. If a cow gives 5,000 pounds of milk and four tenths of one per cent is lost, it would mean for the year a loss of about $8 per cow.

There may be many causes to produce such a loss. Probably the chief cause is the speed of the bowl. If a separator is turned too slowly the milk does not skim clean and fat goes over into the skim milk. Another cause might be the temperature of the milk. For close skimming milk should be 85 degrees or above. Still another cause is an unbalanced bowl. See that the separator gets plenty of oil when running and do not neglect it when it gets out of order.

MAKING IDEAL DAIRY RATION

Silo Solves Succulence Problem Best—Roots Should Be More Generally Fed to Cows.

It is very necessary that succulence be supplied if we hope to come anywhere near an ideal dairy ration. The silo solves this problem best. From all points of view silage is to be preferred. The second choice would be roots. These will be very satisfactory, either when fed alone or supplementary to the silage, and should be more generally fed than at present on all dairy farms. Lacking either of these, it will be important to secure similar effects through the grain ration with the aid of alfalfa or clover if available. In this connection oil meal is of great value because of its well-known laxative properties coupled with its high protein content.

BUILDING UP A DAIRY HERD

Care and Feed of Calves Is of Great Importance—Select Best Marked Females.

Select the best marked female calves from the tested and most productive cows. Let the calf remain with the cow for eight to ten days or until the cow's milk is fit for human food. Feed sweet skim milk heated to blood heat; about one to two quarts may be given morning and evening. Have a clean tin feed bucket; disease and no end of germs may be found in dirty buckets. Feed every day and set out in the sun and air. Feed sweet milk; it should always be fed warm; cold and sour milk will produce scours and diarrhea. After the second week a little oatmeal and a small quantity of flaxseed oil meal after it is boiled may be added to the milk.

Give a little bunch of bright, sweet clover hay in the pen every day for the calf to nibble. After the milk has been fed put a little meal in the calf's mouth. A little hay may also be given. By this method the calf will soon learn to eat meal and hay.

Whole oats and wheat bran may be fed in small quantities after the sixth week. All stock, young and old, thrive and keep in health when well fed and kindly treated.

CHECK GROWTH OF BACTERIA

Milk Fresh From Cow Should Be Chilled at Once to About Fifty Degrees Fahrenheit.

Cooling milk immediately after milking checks the growth of bacteria and thus prevents the milk from spoiling. Hence milk fresh from the cow should be chilled at once to about 50 degrees Fahrenheit and kept at that temperature until delivered.

SILAGE NECESSARY FOR COW

Thirty Pounds Per Day Is About Right — It Won't Hurt to Give Her All She Will Eat.

About 30 pounds of silage per day is required by the dairy cow, while a beef animal will consume one-third more, or possibly a still greater amount. It will not hurt a cow to feed her all that she will consume if the silage is good and is fed regularly.

MORE DIFFICULT TO MARRY NOW

Girls, especially those who have not reached the age of consent and require parental sanction, will find it more difficult to marry. Under the new law which went into effect January 1, the application for a license must be posted in the county clerk's office for five days before it is granted, thus giving the girl's father, mother, sister or brother a chance to protest.

In this event it will be necessary for the man, a party to the proposed marriage, to convince the county judge that he is entitled to marry.

Another provision of the new law provides that the county clerk shall have five sheets of paper upon which to make out the marriage license, the document being no small imitation of the 16-page questionnaire provided for draft men.

The first application includes the moral and physical history of the applicant, his previous marriages (if any) and divorces (if any). There is another document which calls for three blanks of paper. One of them is sent to the registrar to the statistics, one is kept by the minister and one is kept by the couple as proof of the marriage. Preceding this there is a marriage license issued containing all the information in the application blanks.

THRIFT STAMPS CAMPAIGN SOON

Reports from county chairmen throughout the state indicate that the war savings stamp campaign is rapidly getting under full swing and that as the weeks pass it will steadily gather momentum.

In practically every county the various committees are fully organized and have been willing only for the end of the Red Cross Christmas membership campaign before commencing active work. Now that the Red Cross has again "gone over the top" work will center upon the thrift stamps and the totals will rapidly increase.

Practically every postoffice in the state is supplied with the stamps and each mail carrier and postmaster is an active selling agency. State Director J. H. Puelicher has authorized the various county chairmen to appoint agents as fast as possible and it is hoped that within the next two weeks every store of consequence in the entire state will offer the stamps for sale.

This movement has more behind it than the mere raising of $2,000,000,000; it is intended to make a nation of savers instead of spenders to the end that in the future we may compete favorably with other nations that have long been noted for their thrifty habits.

The plan is so simple that a child can readily understand it. Two stamps are provided—a thrift stamp selling for 25 cents that does not bear interest and sixteen of which, with a few cents added to cover accrued interest, may be converted into a $5.00 war stamp at any time. This war stamp, if purchased during the month of January will cost but $4.12 and in January, 1923, will be redeemed in gold by the government for its face value of $5. If desired the war stamps may be purchased outright without the use of the thrift stamp.

ORGANIZE BOYS FOR FARM WORK

J. B. Borden, assistant superintendent of public instruction, has been delegated by Supt. C. P. Cary, at the request of the Wisconsin council of defense, to organize the available schoolboys of the state for farm work.

Under the plan, as outlined by Mr. Borden, boys of 16 and over in the grade and high schools of the state, will be asked, with the consent of their parents, to enlist for farm labor during the summer months. While the boys will be compensated for their work, the service is patriotic and will be officially known as the loyalty labor legion.

There are 18,000 male students in the high schools of Wisconsin of which 4,000 come from the country. Five thousand more, it is believed, come from the rural communities, and already have had more or less experience along agricultural lines, making approximately 8,000 available.

She was fond of this, and wanted a second helping. She had heard it spoken of as dressing when it was passed the first time, but had forgotten just what to call for, so she simply said, in asking for it: "Please pass the clothes."

Salt Superstitions.

The kernel of all the salt superstitions seems to be this: Salt cannot be corrupt, and has, therefore, the title to be regarded as a symbol of immortality. In Ireland it was for long the custom to place a pewter plate containing salt upon the heart of the corpse until burial. Then, with coals and holy water, it was thrown into the grave.

INSTRUCTIONS GO TO DRAFT BOARDS

Provost Marshal Crowder Directs The Use Of "Common Sense"

Local draft boards have been instructed by Provost Marshal General Crowder to use "common sense and sympathy in the facts of each individual case" in determining what would be adequate support for dependents of a man registered for war service.

Many boards have indicated doubt as to what should be done when it appears that a soldier's pay and war risk allowances will provide support for dependents whom he claims otherwise would entitle the registrant to deferred classification.

In a message made public Monday night, Gen. Crowder said: "Reasonably adequate support can not be determined by a rule of thumb, but must be determined with common sense and sympathy in the facts of each individual case. What would be adequate support in one locality or in one set of circumstances might not be adequate support in another.

"The question of adequate support must be determined by the boards after careful consideration of the interests of the dependents on the one hand and of the government on the other and with the thought always in mind that the present classification scheme is designed to raise our armies with a minimum of hardship and suffering to those who are to be left at home."

To clear up doubt existing on other points, Gen. Crowder gave the following supplementary instructions:

"First—Sub-division A, Class Four, is the residuary class for registrants whose wives or children are mainly dependent on them for support, and this applies to a widower whose own children are mainly dependent upon him for support.

"Second—If a registrant has both a wife and child and there are such other sources of support available that the removal of the registrant will not deprive the dependents of reasonably adequate support he is to be placed in sub-division A, of Class Two.

"Third—If a registrant has a wife but no children and there are such other sources of support available that the removal of the registrant will not deprive the wife of reasonably adequate support he goes into Class One as not being included in any other division of the schedule.

PREFERS CHAMBERLAIN'S

"In the course of a conversation with Chamberlain Medicine Co.'s representative today, we had occasion to discuss in a general way the merits of their different preparations. At his suggestion I take pleasure in expressing my estimation of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have a family of six children and have used this remedy in my home for years. I consider it the only cough remedy on the market, as I have tried nearly all kinds."—Earl

SWEDEN.

The new school of technology on Valhallavagen was dedicated October 19 in the presence of a representative assembly. The new high school, which is an imposing structure, and has been in operation since September 1, is the work of Prof. Erik Fallsterdet. It took him four years to put up the building, which costs about $1,200,000.
Some of the most noted painters and sculptors of Sweden have assisted in decorating the building. Carl Milles, the sculptor, has made the granite Carberus group guarding the entrance and the reliefs above the main portico, and Ivar Jonsson, another sculptor, has furnished some remarkable works that decorate the building. The chimneys in the tower, which represents the sun and the moon, is also his work, as well as some allegorical female figures on the facade. Among the painters employed were Professors Hjortsberg and Georg Pauli.

A prehistoric loaf of bread has been found in a burial mound which dates from the iron age. Two archaeologists, named Normann and Janse, who were sent out by the Academy of Sciences, made excavations in the Kummlby hill in Vikelandet, Ostergotland, and among a number of objects which are supposed to date from the iron age they found a flattened cake-shaped loaf of bread. Professor Lagerholm of the Stockholm high school has examined the ancient bread, and holds that it was made of wheat or barley. The samples of prehistoric bread found in Sweden are very few. Two others have also been found in Ostergotland, which indicates that this province was a granary even in prehistoric times.

Axel Robert Nordvall, former delegate of the Swedish government at Washington, has sailed for London, where he will represent Sweden in negotiations regarding shipment of food to neutrals. Doctor Hjalmar Lundbom will remain here as head of the Swedish mission to conduct negotiations for his country in America.

Mayor Lindhagen of Stockholm was beaten at the last election. He declares that the result was a good thing for him personally. He was really in great need of rest, and now he goes to bed at eight in the evening and sleeps until nine in the morning.

The lack of copper coins is becoming more and more annoying in Sweden, and postage stamps are often used in place of two-ore (one-half cent) coins.

NORWAY.

United States Senator Knute Nelson from Minnesota wrote to a friend:
"Germany has been nearly as cruel and barbarous to Norway on the sea as she has been to Belgium on the land. More than 700 Norwegian ships have been torpedoed and more than 800 Norwegian sailors have been killed, many of them shelled and killed by the Germans after the poor fellows had got into the lifeboats. It makes my blood boil when I think of it. I cannot see how any person with Norwegian blood in his veins can fail to abhor the conduct of the Germans and fail to realize it is his duty to rally around the Stars and Stripes in this emergency."

Christiania is the headquarters of war speculators. There are many office boys in Norway who have made hundreds of thousands of dollars almost over night. An atmosphere of speculation prevails in the Norwegian capital. Everybody is thinking and talking only of money. The enormous prosperity is endangering the old Norwegian simplicity, the solid foundation of Norway's culture.

It is just as dangerous to be a pro-German today in Norway as it is in the United States; public sentiment in Norway has been aroused as never before by the Kaiser's policy of "sink without trace," but the great majority seem to think that it is of utmost importance to keep Norway out of the war, thus enabling its many new industries to prepare for unusual opportunities after peace has come.

Several cellulose factories have discharged many of their men because the market is glutted.

The prices of all necessities of life have risen enormously during the war.
Salt is said to be the one article standing at the head of the list of airplane commodities. Before the war the price was a little less than half a cent a pound, now it is about 14 cents.

A mortgage, dated September 2, 1917, was canceled the other day at a special session of the court at Kongs-berg. It was given by Hans With in favor of the board of education of Kongsberg, and the amount involved was $50.

This is the way Captain Roald Amundsen wrote when he returned the badges of honor conferred upon him by Germany: "As a Norwegian seaman,
I take liberty to return my German decorations. The Prussian crown order of the first class, the Bavarian Luitpold medal, and his majesty, Kaiser Wilhelm's gold medal for arts and sciences—as a personal protest against the German murders of peaceful Norwegian seamen, most recently in the North sea, October 17, 1917."

The old railway from Storen to Trendhjem is a narrow gauge track.
In order to be able to run cars of a normal gauge on this section a third rail is now being put down. The work of building the Dovre railway is progressing without any serious interference by the war. By the time it is finished it will cost at least $7,000,000.
About 20 miles of the line runs through treeless mountains, and the highest point is 3,325 feet above the level of the sea.

Rev. Kornbrekke of Vinje has the reputation of being a mathematical genius. Now he claims to have discovered a method of trisecting the triangle. Mathematicians of all ages have agreed that this cannot be done, and all that can be said about the merits of Reverend Kornbrekke's solution is that these experts who have seen it are greatly surprised.

The late Reverend Landmark of Borde, Sandjord, collected samples of 4,000 different kinds of plants during his lifetime. His collection has been turned over to the Bergen museum.
Many years ago Reverend Landmark received a gold medal from King Oscar as a token of appreciation of the pastor's merits as a gardener.

The vendace, a kind of whitefish, were very plentiful in Lake Mjosen last fall. They find a ready sale at about 20 cents a pound in Christiania.
The fishermen complain that this kind of fish spoils very quickly.

Halder Virek of Sandefjord killed nine moose in his forests last fall.
Two of them were very large bulls.

FINLAND.

Permission for shipment of about 30,000 tons of corn and oats to Finland by way of Sweden has been granted by the food administration and the war trade board upon evidence that thousands of Finnish people are starving. An agent of the war trade board will be sent into Finland from Sweden to make certain Germany will not benefit by the American shipments. Doctor Kaarle Imatius, special commissioner of Finland, has arranged for transportation. He says his people were in a pitiable plight. A frost killed their crops and the situation in Russia made it impossible to import food from that country. Twelve million dollars has been paid for food in Russia which never was delivered.
Doctor Imatius said, because starving Russians looted the trains before they could reach the Finnish border.

DENMARK.

Doctor Hindhede, a food expert, recently made a public address which has attracted wide attention. He declared emphatically that a person can thrive on rye meal, oleomargarine, and water alone, and if some shelled barley and potatoes are added, so much better. As living proofs of his theories he presented to the audience two persons who had lived for 14 months exclusively on bread and potatoes, and had been doing quite hard work all the time. They had not eaten any fats besides those contained in the articles mentioned. Doctor Hindhe looked with the greatest uncon-cern towards reduced fat rations, and he did not find any reason for anxiety on account of a greater scarcity of eggs and starch foods. The audience was well pleased with this kind of talk. But before he had finished his lecture he had made assertions that staggered many of his hearers. If the war continues indefinitely at its wonderful rate, he said, the Danish people will face actual starvation in three years, unless, indeed, the number of domestic animals is reduced according to the size of the country. At present six-sevenths of the area of Denmark is devoted to the production of folder for the stock, and only one-seventh produces human food directly. Denmark has about 625,000 acres of tilled land, and this is enough to sustain 17-500,000 vegetarians.

"America's Christmas gift to the Danish people," is what Copenhagen newspapers termed the United States government's release of Danish ships.
All comment expressed earnest gratitude over the action.

The new rigsdag building at Kristiansborg will be dedicated June 5, 1918, the anniversary of the adoption of the constitution of Denmark. The new rigsdag will convene at the same time.

The amount of peat prepared for fuel in Denmark last summer was 3-000,000,000 blocks, which is considerably more than was expected. In spite of the difficulty of transportation about seven-tenths of the output has been hauled away from the bogs.

A stationer in Copenhagen has been selling cards showing a picture of the city hall. The funny feature of the picture is, that above the tower of the building waves a German flag. No one cares to assume the responsibility for this illogical showing.

Russian Birkenwasser.
From the sap of the birch tree some of the tribes of northern Russia prepare their ordinary drink, "birkenwasser," from which they also make vinegar; and in some districts they toll it into a sweet syrup which serves them instead of sugar.

At the Party.
Dorothy was invited to a party where all the other girls were a few years older than she. On arriving home she said to her mother: "Mother, I had an awfully good time, and I was the blabbiest one there."

Vanity.
Vanity dies hard, wrote Robert Louis Stevenson; in some elaborate cases it outlives the man.

WOODBORO

Fred Lund and Miss Raitanen attended the basket social at Cassian, New Year's eve.

Rev. Peter LaPorte of Rhinelander will hold a service at the Oneida Lake school next Sunday. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grabon have returned from a visit with relatives, at Chicago, Milwaukee and Hartland.

Miss Jennie Raitanen has returned from a visit with her father at Brantwood and has resumed her work at the Oneida Lake school.

Miss Irene Johnson has returned home from Arbor Vitae, where she visited with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Schroeder were callers at the Michie home New Year's day.

Mrs. Robert Moffit has gone to Washburn to visit her parents.

Rattlesnake's Rattle.

The rattle of the rattlesnake is developed from the single scale or epidermal spine, which in most snakes forms the internal segment of the tail. The bone on which the root of the rattle rests consists of the last caudal vertebra and is covered with a skin which is the beginning of the rattle in young rattlesnakes.

ARE MARRIED IN BISHOP'S CHAPEL

The wedding of Miss Ruby Jennings and George M. Gleason, both of Rhinelander, took place Thursday morning, Dec. 27, at 9 o'clock in the chapel in the residence of Bishop Kordelka in Superior. Rev. Father Bertram, formerly of this city, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Katherine Seibel of this city was bridesmaid and John Byrns of Superior was best man. A wedding breakfast followed at the Byrns home at which only relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Gleason departed immediately on their wedding trip which will comprise Milwaukee, Chicago and Detroit. They will be at home after January 7 at 800 S. Oneida avenue.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jennings, and grew to womanhood in this city. She formerly taught in the Oneida county schools, later in Miller and until recently was a teacher in Wabeno. She is an amiable young lady with a host of friends. Mr. Gleason is the son of Mr and Mrs. Patrick Gleason. Like his bride he is a Rhinelander product. For several years past he has been a salesman for the Quality Biscuit company of Milwaukee and is rated as one of the most popular young commercial travelers on the road. The New North joins with Mr. and Mrs. Gleason's many friends in extending congratulations.

Time Is Valuable.

Habit accustoms us to doing most of the everyday things in particular ways, and we think of them only when they chance to be done differently. We sometimes get the habit of being late in keeping engagements, and feel that the loss, if any, is our own affair. It is also the affair of the one we keep waiting, as he may consider his time of much value. Only the idle and careless, whose time is of the least value, can afford to waste it by carelessness in keeping engagements.—Exchange.

Huts on Stilts.

The early German and Gallic dwellings were mere huts, some raised above the ground on stilts, and only accessible by ladders (like many of the houses of New Guinea at the present time), and others resembling somewhat the primitive cabins of the prehistoric lake dwellers. Their roofs were low, thatched with coarse straw and reeds, and there was usually but one window, high up under the eaves. It was a long time before these were displaced by more solid structures,

Origin of "Devil's Sonata."
A marvelous circumstance caused Tartini to write the curiously-named "Devil's Sonata." He dreamed one night he sold himself to the Evil One, and asked him to play on a violin he used to practice on. His Satanic Majesty complied with the request, and played so wonderfully that Tartini jumped out of bed and began to play the delicious sounds he had just listened to. He could not exactly coincide with the devil's efforts, but attained such a resemblance that he gave his sonata the curious name we know it by.

Calories of the Egg.

The nutritive value of foods is measured in terms of calories. The white of an average egg weighs about 28.5 grams, consisting of water, proteins and mineral matter. The proteins of the white contribute about 15 calories to the total nutritive value of the egg. The yolk of this same average egg weighs about 15 grams including water, proteins and fats. Its protein furnishes about 9.5 calories, its fats 43.7 calories, or a total of 53.5 calories from the yolk. Scramble your egg and you will have about 63.4 calories.

Beers Stick to Weak Tobacco.
The Poles in the Transvaal smoke something that resembles a weak tea. It has a peculiar flavor and Englishmen who have become used to it never smoke any other substitute for tobacco while in that country.

Typical Pipes of the Nations.
The clay pipes used by the natives of various countries and nationalities are quite numerous and have their own individual fashion almost characteristic of each country. The French clay pipe is gay in color and for a few cents one can buy one decorated with the carving of animals' heads, and other adornments. The Hungarian clay pipe has a bowl of clay, and a long stem of either wood or bamboo. This pipe is usually large, with a big bowl, and the average cost is ten cents.

Perfect Agriculture.

Liebig, the great agricultural investigator, said: "I shall be happy if I succeed in attracting the attention of men of science to subjects which so well merit to engage their talents and energies. Perfect agriculture is the foundation of trade and industry; it is the foundation of the riches of states. But a rational system of agriculture cannot be formed without the application of scientific principles to soils, crops, actions of manures and nutrition."

Many Tunnels and Caves.

In England there are hundreds of ancient buildings which possess their secret passages, and during excavations in London long-forgotten tunnels are often encountered. Underneath Linsmore castle, Ireland, one of the seats of the duke of Devonshire, are one or two curious secret tunnels leading to spacious caves in which skeletons and uniforms have been found.
